“These honors affirm our dedication to what we are building: A globally diversified, multi-engine technology company anchored by a self-reinforcing AI flywheel across Social Entertainment, BIGO Ads, and Shopline,” said Ms. Li Ting, Chairperson and CEO of JOYY. “We remain focused on execution, and on translating the compounding strengths of our ecosystem into long-term value for our shareholders.”

“This result reflects feedback from the buy-side and sell-side professionals who track our capital allocation, disclosure quality, and financial stewardship most closely,” added Mr. Alex Liu, Vice President of Finance of JOYY. “We see it as an affirmation of our strategies to date. We remain committed to balancing meaningful shareholder returns with disciplined reinvestment in our next growth engines, a duality that defines our capital allocation strategy.”

The 2026 Executive Team Survey drew input from 4,743 buy-side portfolio managers and analysts and 838 sell-side analysts, evaluating a total of 2,520 companies across Asia.
